"YIPPEE!" PONY BOYS MEET TEDDY WITH GLAD YELLS

Cheyenne Opens Chuck Box to Guest of Honor on Roosevelt Day.

Effete East Forgotten on Occasion

FIRST SPEECH MADE IN WEST.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 27.—The west met the east today and both stepped back a quarter of a century in the shadow of the long reaches of the Wyoming ranges. Roosevelt brought his train from the east down a lane of "yipping" yelling cowboys. He brought the only trace of the "effete east" found here today. But the west is here, with a horse for every man. The colonel arrived at 9 o'clock and will go to Denver Monday. The president refused to comment on the New York fight, and apparently had left the incident behind him.

"Hello there you boys," shouted Roosevelt, as he dashed down the car steps. Hundreds of cow men lay loose a yell and Roosevelt Day was on.

"I have nothing to say. This is the kind of attack I expected from the New York Post, when a genuine, practical movement was started to clean politics."

This is what Roosevelt said when shown the Post editorial written yesterday, attacking him. The editorial charged Roosevelt had solicited money from the insurance companies for his campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt said: "When, at the close of my hunting trip in Africa, I reached the borders of civilization, the first invitation I accepted was this, to visit the capital of Wyoming on the day when the people of the frontier came together to commemorate their achievement; I was glad it was so, because I have a peculiar feeling for the men and women of what used to be called the 'far west' and especially for those of the cattle country."

"For a number of years I lived on a ranch on the Little Missouri, sharing work and play, good fortune and bad fortune, with my neighbors; working on the round-up, serving as delegate from the Little Missouri round-up district to the Montana Stock Growers' association, and even at times acting as deputy sheriff at my end of the county. I count those years as among the most valuable of my life, because nothing breeds such community of feeling as to work with one's fellow men at their life tasks, and to learn to know their feelings by actually sharing them. The man of the west, throughout the successive stages of western growth, has always been one of the two or three most typical figures—indeed, I am tempted to say the most typical figure—in American life, and no man can really understand our country and appreciate what it really is and what it promises unless he has the fullest and closest sympathy with the ideals and aspirations of the west."

"The prime reason for this is to be found in the fact that the westerner is so good an American. He is an American first and foremost for this is the great lesson, friends, that all of us need to learn and to keep, the lesson that is unimportant whether a man lives north or south, east or west, provided he is genuinely and in good faith an American, that he feels every part of the United States as his own, and that he is honestly desirous to uphold the interests of all other Americans."

Dr. Crippen Arrives at Liverpool After Uneventful Trip—Ready to be Taken to London For Trial

It is Rumored at Paris That Italian Government Has Put Its Royal O. K. on Miss Katherine Elkins.

Liverpool, Aug. 27.—The steamer carrying Dr. H. H. Crippen, alleged murderer of his wife, Belle Elmore, and his typist, Miss Ethel Leneve, docked here at noon today. The voyage from Montreal was uneventful. The prisoners came ashore between a line of police, made necessary by curious throngs and threats of violence against Crippen. Crippen appeared indifferent to the demonstration, but Miss Leneve was greatly agitated. The party left for London.

Italy O. K.'s Miss Elkins.

Paris, Aug. 27.—Special dispatches from Italy insist that the marriage of Miss Katherine Elkins to the Duke of the Abruzzi, in spite of all denials, has been decided upon and that Senator Elkins and the affianced couple will soon arrive in Paris to arrange the details of the wedding. Both the queen mother of Italy and King Emmanuel have, according to the reports, given their consent to the wedding.

World-Wide Strike.

Copenhagen, Aug. 27.—Delegates from all the seamen's unions of America and Europe present at the international congress of sailors and marine firemen in session here, with the exception of the French association, agreed to declare an international strike unless the ship owners of every country concerned agree to the formation of a board of conciliation to deal with the grievances of the men. The date of the threatened strike will be known only to the leaders of the international congress, who are pledged to secrecy on this point. The strike resolution was laid before the full convention later in the afternoon and adopted. ## Baseball Fans, Come to Rescue of City Team

Those Paducah braves, who are doing what they can to establish a name and fame for Paducah as a baseball town—the Indians, of the Kitty league, are sadly in need of munitions of war, to continue out this season, and the owners of the club are appealing to the loyal fans of the city to come to their assistance.

That there are a great many loyal baseball fans in Paducah, who will contribute liberally to the support of the games here, The Sun firmly believes. Paducah folk generally are quite liberal when any occasion demanding liberality arises.

Such an incident is before us now. The Sun wants to assist the backers of the club, and will give $25 toward the fund being raised to tide over the baseball season, which ends the latter part of next month. And The Sun will gladly accept donations from any one wishing to contribute to the good cause.

The Paducah baseball association started out with far less funds than any of the other teams had, and this accounts for the appeal now for assistance. The affairs of the club have been conducted economically, and but for the inclement weather early in the season, —rains for three weeks—it would have needed no help at all.

Hopkinsville raised over $3,000 for its club, Clarksville and Vincennes almost as much, and the Paducah contingent secured only $800.

So, now, it is up to the friends of the game, and those who have any pride in the city's reputation for such things, to "come to the aid of their country." Both the local newspapers will receive subscriptions, and do all they can for team.

What will you other fans do?

Michigan Town's Population.

The population of Lansing, Mich., is 31,229, an increase of 14,744, or 89.4 per cent, as compared with 16,485 in 1900.

More Indictments Are Ordered in Illinois Legislative Bribery Case at Instance of Prosecutor Wayman

Defense in Illinois Central Graft Case Surprised by
Introduction of Witness
They Knew Nothing About.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—The second trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, minority leader of the last legislature charged with purchasing votes to elect William Lorimer to the United States senate, took a new turn when Judge Theodore Brentane ordered a special grand jury to assemble August 30 to investigate the charges of perjury and "other matters."

Brentane ordered the grand jury on a petition from State's Attorney John W. Wayman. The prosecuting attorney maintained complete secrecy as to the exact purpose of the special grand jury, refusing to say who would be questioned on the perjury charges or what the "other matters" include.

In the court room, however, it was declared that the matter of jury tampering resulting in extreme difficulty to obtain a jury for the present case will be investigated.

The trial and grand jury investigation will proceed simultaneously after August 30, and it is said the results of the investigation may put an entirely new appearance on the bribery trial.

I. C. Graft Case.

Trial of the Illinois Central railroad $1,500,000 graft case was started when the preliminary examination of Frank B. Harriman, former general manager; John M. Taylor, former general storekeeper, and Charles L. Ewing, former general superintendent of the railroad was opened before Municipal Judge Mancha Bruggemeyer in the Harrison street court.

The alliance of the state, which is prosecuting, and the Illinois Central assisting, opened proceedings with a heavy blow in the calling to the witness stand of a man whose identity as a witness had been kept secret until the opening of the case, and whose testimony on the stand connected the names of three defendants and of the late Ira G. Rawn, formerly vice president of the Illinois Central and later president of the Monon road. J. E. Baker, former assistant superintendent of machinery, and William Renshaw, former superintendent of machinery with the Ostermann Manufacturing company. The witness was Theophile Reuther, locomotive engineer on the road, who was a partner of Henry C. Ostermann in the organization of the company.

Presented With Stock.

Among the statements of Reuther were declarations that all the officials mentioned had been presented with stock in the Ostermann company "because of what they had done to help it," and that Taylor had been a director of the company taking the place after Reuther himself had been forced from it.

Reuther gave his testimony under objections of the defense on grounds that as Ostermann was not a defendant in the case and as much of the witness' knowledge came from conversations with Ostermann, it could not be used. The prosecution promised to connect the testimony with the case in proper manner and was allowed to proceed by Judge Bruggemeyer, who withheld ruling until

MAY BE GOVERNOR SOME DAY.

A Paducah boy seems destined for the governorship of the Lone Star state. He is Murrell Buckner, now prominent in politics in Texas and residing at Dallas. His latest advance is the appointment as secretary of the Democratic executive committee of Texas, which position he merited through his wide popularity and influential standing.

The Dallas Times Herald, of Dallas, in Monday's issue speaks highly of Mr. Buckner, and accompanying the story is a clear half tone of him.

Mr. Buckner is a son of the late Simon B. Buckner, of Paducah, and was born and reared here. About twenty years ago the family moved to Louisville whence Mr. Buckner went to Texas, where he has been prominent in politics for several years. Friends here are inclined to believe he will rise to the head of the state. He is a brother of Mrs. Guy Martin, of Paducah, and Mrs. David Flournoy, of St. Louis. James and Paul Buckner, prominent tobacco manufacturers of Louisville, and Frank Buckner, of Dallas, are brothers, the latter making his home with Murrell.

Mr. Buckner is a young man and has a great future. Friends in Paducah will be pleased with his importance in southwestern politics and wish him the best of success.

In addition to the objection of the cost, army officials regarded the proposal as certain to prove futile. The navy department, to which similar requests have been made, expressed its willingness to co-operate with the army with six or ten guns, the only ones at its disposal.

In what is conceded to be one of the fastest ball games witnessed at League park this season the Indians walloped Clarksville for a fourth straight victory yesterday afternoon, making the third shut-out for the visitors at the hands of the local tribe. It was a grand exhibition of the national game and Paducah played remarkable ball, pulling herself out of a tight pinch in the second and holding Clarksville down to goose eggs throughout.

"Pat" Runyan pitched a remarkable game, allowing only four hits that failed to show up in the score column for the visitors. Not an error marked the victory of Paducah. The Indians recorded their first score in the second on Johnson's long fly to center field. Overton racing in home after the catch and tapping the pan on Thompson's bum throw.

Strube's wild throw to third in the sixth let in the second score. Not another Red Skin came in after that.

It looked gloomy for the Indians in the second when Runyan walked two men and another was safe on a sacrifice hit. The bases were full and Runyan redeemed himself by catching McWilliams off third sack when Harris was at the bat and waiting for the fourth ball to be called. McWilliams was up first and Runyan walked him. Laitner followed by landing safely at first on a nice sacrifice hit that was too hard a proposition to catch him. McWilliams stole second in the scramble for the pill. Runyan then proceeded to fan Strube, but fell down next by walking Priest. Then the bases were full and Harris appeared at the bat. Runyan passed three balls and the crisis had arrived. Another ball meant a forced score for Clarksville, but Patrick kept his noodle and with a quick survey of the situation esped McWilliams a good distance away from third sack. Like a cannon ball the pill was hurled to "Dummy" Payne in time to tag McWilliams before he could recover his place at the bag. Anderson sent the ball to Varnadore in an effort to catch Laitner, but the runner raced to the bag and was declared safe. Runyan was wild and walked Harris, resulting in the bases filling for the second time. Fisher rapped one to Varnadore and was put out at first sack.

Paducah followed by scoring. Overton singled on a hot one to center. Floyd fumbled to Strube and Cox singled, making it to second on Thompson's fumble and advancing Overton to third sack. Johnson, a new warrior occupying left field, sent a long fly to center and Thompson copped it easily. Remaining on third until the ball was in Thompson's hands, Overton raced for the pan and beat the ball as a result of Thompson's short throw.

Another error for Clarksville let in another run for Paducah in the sixth. Varnadore arrived safely at first on a muffed liner to McCance. Anderson sacrificed. Harris to McWilliams. Varnadore raced to second with safety. Kyle fanned and Varnadore hoofed it for third. Strube sent a wild one to Laitner and Varnadore flew in home on the error.

Anderson, in his usual good form, killed a hit from McWilliams in the ninth and shot the ball to Kyle before the runner could make his arrival. It was a hot liner sent out by McWilliams and in a bad place, but Anderson displayed a feature spot, forcing the third out for the visitors.

Johnson failed to get a hit yesterday, but fans are expecting more of him later. Harris struck out seven Indians to Runyan's three and failed to walk a single Red Skin.

Baseball Notes.

Yesterday was wash day in the Kitty, whitewash being the smeary fluid that was applied to three teams. It was a strange coincidence.

A letter has been received from the management of the Toledo club in the American association by Treasurer W. E. Cochran, of the Kitty league, asking him under what conditions that club can use the baseball park here for its spring training in 1911. It is likely that the deal will be made and the Indians will play exhibition games with that fast aggregation.

Anderson is certainly proving a savior for the Indians, who have won every game since he took charge of them. Another defeat for Clarksville is on the shelf this afternoon and a large bunch of fans are out to watch the Indians work since they have been rejuvenized.

Instead of the B. B. Hooks amateur team playing just one game with the Indians at the close of the Kitty league a series of three games will be played at League park. The Hooks have a fast bunch and should prove interesting for the Paducah tribe. Most of the Indians will be here for some time after the season closes.

Lee O. Johnson is the name of Paducah's new left fielder. Yesterday Johnson didn't have a single chance in the game. During the three games at Clarksville he had only four chances, three in one game and one in another. He is a fast fielder and will strengthen the Indians' outfield.

Kyle, the new first baseman, had 15 chances yesterday and took every one of them. In the ninth he made a grand stand catch from Anderson and nothing within his bounds will get by him. He is as good as any first baseman in the league.

Woodring is on the mound for the Indians this afternoon and Overton is catching. For Clarksville the battery is Hoyt and Strube. Another victory is booked today with Woodring on the slab.

The B. B. Hooks will go to Dawson Springs tomorrow morning, where they will play the fast team of that place tomorrow afternoon. The lineup for the Hooks will be: Wagner, c; Connell, p; Williams (manager), lb; C. Harper, 2b; Monroe, 3b; Cox, ss; Burton, lf; G. Harper, cf; Hanners, rf. Sneed will go along with the team to fill out in case of necessity.

Marine Ways Vs. P. A. C.

Three Homers Win for Cubs.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Three home runs gave Chicago the second game with New York. Schulte started the long driving in the fifth. In the eighth he repeated the feat and Tinker emulated him. An extraordinary large crowd went wild over the double performance. Drucke allowed only two other hits, Hofman getting two singles. Brown had superb control and struck out ten men. Manager McGraw was sent to the club house for protesting a decision in the eighth.

AFTER ELECTION IS COOPER TRIAL

ROBIN COOPER CASE TO BE CALLED NOV. 15.

Second Trial for Carmack Murder at Nashville—Defendant in Europe.

WILL BE BACK BEFORE THEN.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 27.—The case of Robin Cooper, charged with the murder of Senator Edward W. Carmack, is set for trial in the Davidson county criminal court on Tuesday, November 15. This appears from the tentative calendar for the September term. Whether or not the trial of the case begins on that day depends, of course on several matters. Either the state or the defendant may show grounds for a continuance, and it is not improbable that one or the other will at least ask for a continuance.

Robin Cooper, the defendant, is now in Europe. He left Nashville several weeks ago and joined Mr. and Mrs. James C. Bradford at Carlsbad, Germany. It was said at the time of his leaving that his health was impaired and that he was taking the European trip in the hope of recuperating. It is expected that he will return to Nashville in October. After the reversal of judgment of the trial court sentencing him to twenty years in the penitentiary, his bond was fixed at $10,000, and he is now at liberty under this bond.

It will be remembered that Robin Cooper and his father, Col. Duncan B. Cooper, were convicted of the murder of Senator Carmack, the trial ending early in the spring of last year. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, which sustained the trial court as to Col. Duncan B. Cooper, but reversed as to Robin Cooper.

Inasmuch as the Cooper case and the tragedy that brought the case into the courts together with the subsequent pardoning of Col. Cooper by Governor Patterson has exerted a profound influence on the political thought of the state, both sides will probably be pleased that the trial has been set for a date well beyond the November election.

Some interest has been manifested during the past few days as to whether or not, when the Robin Cooper case comes on for trial, Mr. A. B. Anderson, the newly elected attorney general, will have charge of the prosecution.

There are a number of other murder cases on the docket for the coming term, but none of them will attract widespread interest. To this case belongs the case of Gertrude Douglas alias Rose Sharpe, who killed Isaac Moore, and that of Henry F. Beaumont, who killed Harry Sutherland, a young actor, several years ago.

Taxi Struck By Car.
Taking a big chance to beat a street car to the crossing, Henry Sherman, colored, chauffeur of a taxicab owned by Dunn Brothers, narrowly escaped death at 7:45 o'clock last night at Broadway and Seventh street. Sherman was going south on Seventh street and at Broadway he tried to get by before an east bound Broadway car, in charge of Motorist Dudley Chapman and Conductor C. H. Gentry, crossed. The right rear wheel of the taxi was struck and torn off and the auto otherwise damaged. The car was brought to a halt. Both driver and motorist claim they did not see each other.

Beware of the man who would rather sell his conscience with deceit than his hands with honest toil.

Warned Against Accepting Any of Them.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

Ticket agents and conductors throughout the Illinois Central lines have been warned against the taking of any bogus transportation orders or meal tickets since a batch of 500 of each have been printed in San Francisco by an unknown party. The orders purport to have been issued by the United States marine corps and drawn as though made at Olongapo, P. I., but were found to be bogus by the lack of a seal and signature. One of the tickets was honored by the Southern Pacific railroad at San Francisco and also Pullman transportation was given. At the Chicago offices of the Illinois Central circulars have been sent out notifying all offices and they have been received and posted here. An effort is being made to trace the forger.

Master Mechanic Joe Walker has returned from Princeton, Ky.

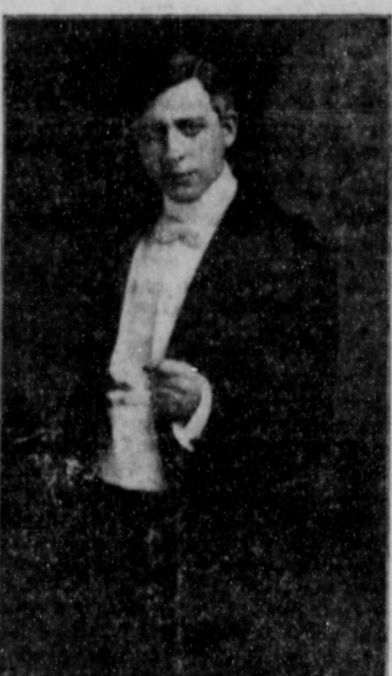

Assistant Superintendent L. E. McCabe, of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, has returned home after being here on business.

Messrs. Jack Fuller and Arthur Jones, of the storekeeper's department, and John Fuller, of the paint shop, will leave tomorrow for a visit in Chicago.

Special Agent J. D. King, of the Illinois Central, returned last night from Louisville and left this morning for Calvert City on business. He will return tonight.

The Union Rescue Mission has been engaged in relief and protective charity work for twelve years and nine months, doing what we could in Paducah with what means we could procure, and while we know you to be a charitable people, we are bound to remind you of the fact that we have to pay $18 per month for rent, besides running expenses, and we are behind in rent $90 up to this month and must pay this month's rent, $18, as we can't afford to infringe upon our landlord any further, and since we make no charges for what we do, we feel that the public ought freely to lay the rent and provide the funds for the expenses of the future. We kindly ask 20 individuals to give five dollars apiece so that with other collections we may be able to straighten up all bills and feel free to carry on the good work. We request each pastor to take a collection for the mission in their churches.—R. W. Chiles.

HOT-WEATHER DIARRHEA

In the summer people of all ages are very subject to "running of the bowels." Germs get into the food or water, find their way into the intestines and keep irritating them so that there is a constant desire to have movement. It is very weakening, destroys appetite, disturbs sleep and produces an itchy feeling that many suppose to be piles. There are many "quick cures" for this aggravated form of dysentery, but they usually contain a narcotic, and that is dangerous. Others try salts and laxative waters, but they have no permanent effects. It takes a remedy with ingredients such as are combined in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to drive out the trouble-causing germs, to clean out the intestines, to strengthen the stomach and enliven the liver. Ordinary remedies cannot do this, but it is a well known fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does do it. Thousands use it every summer for this very purpose. Go to your druggist today and buy a 50 cent or $1.00 bottle and see what it will do for you. It is guaranteed to do what we claim or money refunded. It has enabled thousands of families to cure themselves of simple ailments. If you have never tried it send your address for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE to

Daily Thought.

To forgive wrongs, to love and bear, to hope,
Neither to change, nor flatter, nor respect—
This is alone Life, Joy, Empire and Victory.—Shelley.

Those fires in the northwest compel serious consideration of the forest service.

The funniest thing about the Esperanto congress is the seriousness with which it is discussed.

Mr. Baillinger says he is still identified with the policies of the president. Just another case of mistaken identity.

The bovine habit of Fletcherizing resulted in the death of two cows at Glasgow, while masticating sticks of dynamite!

Mr. Sherman can testify that being run over by a steamroller is as nothing compared to being sat down upon by a large, heavy gentleman.

Breathitt county obtained more editorial notice when one of her native sons missed five consecutive shots than when a prominent citizen was killed.

It is easily comprehended that the detective, whom State's Attorney Wagman told to take White and Beckmeyer out and show them a good time, couldn't imagine any way of entertaining an Illinois legislator without getting him drunk.

We see no reason in the world why Governor Patterson, of Tennessee, should withdraw from the race for re-election. He represents better than anyone else could the element, which nominated him, and his personality in the campaign clearly defines the issues actually involved.

There is nothing to this talk of the estrangement of Roosevelt and the national administration. While people were saying it was too hot to talk politics, Roosevelt announced his dates for his western trip and the weather department at Washington announced a cool wave for the same week.

PERSONAL VENGEANCE

Not having had the opportunity to read the whole editorial discussion of the unwritten law in the Picayune, of New Orleans, where the acquittal of one young woman for murdering her betrayer and paramour has led another girl to commit a similar crime, we cannot do it entire justice in reviewing its position; but in watching the procession of human events from the vantage point of a newspaper office, we never get have seen the occasion that warranted the commission of a crime in redressing a wrong. The law, itself provides ample protection for justifiable and exposable homicides—too ample, sometimes—and the human sympathies of a jury may always be depended upon to respond to the mitigating and extenuating circumstances of each particular case as presented by adroit counsel for the defense. To advocate the suspension of law as a principal, is to open the way for deliberate assassins to find shelter under its broad provisions, as they have the hip-pocket defense in our neighboring state of Tennessee, where it is said a young barrister shot a hole through the supreme court bench when a thoughtless justice reached back for his bandana handkerchief.

Confessedly, were we on a jury to try a girl for murder, who had been betrayed by her victim, under circumstances that awakened pity for one and disgust for the other, we would, like all other jurors, be governed as much by sentiment as by the strict interpretation of the law; but we would not advise all girls, who, having been lured into paths of sin, grew tired of their bondage, to shoot their paramours. There are other avenues of escape, and we would not hold out to the silly creatures the hope that by one pull of the trigger they could blot out the past and start life anew. They cannot; but must toil back up the rugged steep the downward way of which they found so alluring. One determined to make amends for a life of sin can do it, without starting off with murder, and it is evil in itself to assure one, who has sinned for the sake of luxury, that repentance and the virtuous life will attain the same rewards of luxury. There be some, who repent only when they find that the consequence of their sin is not all that they expected, and such turn their course in further pursuit of the same end.

It is not sympathy, either, with the victim of these and other avenging crimes that makes us advocate due process of law. Could vengeance restore conditions as they were before the wrong was done, then we would say let vengeance be swift and sure. But since the wrong remains a wrong and the vengeance becomes a double wrong with all its sure consequences, neither party nor society is in any way better off and all are in a worse predicament than before, the law having been outraged and justice brought into contempt, we can find no justification anywhere for personal retribution.

A crime has been committed. If restitution can be made, let it be made; otherwise why mock ourselves in an effort to make an injury to the perpetrator compensate for the injury he has done his victim? Can we reform the wrong-doer? Let that be done that he may become a good member of society. Do the interests of society demand that he be put out of the way? Let that be done in an orderly manner and with dispatch. If the law is wrong, remedy the law; if its enforcement is lax, learn why and see that it is enforced; if the machinery of justice is inefficient, improve it.

Every unlawful act of violence; every interference with the course of justice is an admission of the inadequacy of our government and our own incompetency. It is better that one crime go unrebuked and that the legal protection of society be perfected, than that the particular wrong be punished and society left still unprotected. Mob violence and personal redress do not discourage the commission of acts they avenge; they only indicate the inability of the law to protect the innocent and to curb the passions of a mob, and sometimes when public sentiment is divided over the merits of an offense, nothing is to prevent a bloody encounter between opposing factions and civil war. All illegal forms of redress for personal wrongs must be alike condemned in practice, and, whether small or great, notorious or petty, they are by nature subversive to good order and a menace to civilization itself.

We are but men of like passions with the editor of the Picayune; but we reserve our emotions for specific occasions, feeling sure from experience that they will always respond to the demands of the hour. We withhold our tears of sympathy for jury service to fall like the dews of heaven and wash away the guilt of overburdened womanhood; not to become a perennial stream for every weary harlot to bathe in.

STATE PRESS.

Getting Dry?
Dr. Meshew, of Barlow, is erecting a large steel tank, which will hold 50,000 gallons of water. La Center needs an enterprise of this kind.—Advance.

Too Late.
John K. Hendrick is too late to get the Democratic vote in Livingston county. About all the political leaders have signed and returned the McCree postal in which they promise him support.—Livingston Echo.

The Oft Repeated Question.
"Bill Head" sounds good to us—an order to print a thousand or two, but not when we're speaking of the governorship of Kentucky. Eleven years ago the Democratic party in Kentucky worshiped Bill Goebel, and now it is dominated and damned by John Whalen, who was one of those who most rejoiced at Goebel's foul taking-off. Who is a Democrat in Kentucky, anyhow.—Hickman Courier.

Has Many Friends There.
Hon. John K. Hendrick, of Paducah, has formally announced his candidacy for governor of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party. He has been long before the public as a public servant and his record as such is beyond censure of even the faintest sort. In the last state campaign he was the Democratic nominee for attorney general, and for several days after the election it was thought that he was elected, although the Republicans carried every other office.

He has many friends in Carlisle county.—Carlisle News.

New Line Up.
The entrance of Col. John K. Hendrick into the contest for the Democratic nomination for governor next year, will call for an entirely new line up from one end of the state to the other. Colonel Hendrick has long been recognized as gubernatorial timber of the first class and no man in western Kentucky has a more loyal following. His own district will probably be solidly at his back and he will have strong support in every part of the state. If a convention be held, it is quite probable that he will enter the convention the leading candidate.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Will Sweep the First.
With Hon. John K. Hendrick in the gubernatorial contest for the Democratic nomination makes the fifth candidate, with prospects of others. Known far and near as "Old Honest John," Colonel Hendrick will very likely sweep the entire First district and receive the vote of many counties throughout the state, thus putting him in the race as a strong candidate for the nomination. He is a true and loyal friend of the farmer's cause and his candidacy has been well received throughout the state by the Democratic voters, especially in this section.—Princeton Leader.

Conditionally Proud.
The latest thing in politics, is the probability that Marshall county may have the honor of producing the next Republican nominee for governor, in the person of the Hon. T. B. McGregor, the present efficient assistant attorney-general of the state. From an article from Frankfort published in another column, it would indicate that Mr. McGregor is the logical man and that he is likely to get the nomination. How would Marshall county feel with a Republican nominee for governor, and more especially how would she feel with an actual governor? But Tommie, we would be glad, even if the empty honor is given you, but a Democrat we must have in the chair, when Governor Wilson's time expires, but if the state is to have a Republican governor, we would prefer very much to call him Governor McGregor.—Magfield Messenger.

Baiting the Colonel.
The Clinton Gazette and Courier-Journal are still wrangling over local option, county unit or state-wide prohibition. We always like free and fair discussion on any and all subjects, but we cannot resist the temptation to tell the Gazette, that it is wasting time, energy and space on a hopeless case, that it had just as well be singing psalms to a mule as arguing a question of conscience with so utterly a depraved reprobate as the C. J. A paper that could teach bimetalism to its readers for half a century, and then when its party has nominated a candidate for president, and formulated a platform along bimetallic lines, could face about and lead a bolt against a candidate and platform just like it had been wanting all these years, would find no trouble in proving some sort of an excuse for defending the liquor interests.—Benton Tribune-Democrat.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The following is a reply to the strictures of Christian Science by Mr. Hagaman at the Auditorium:

Editor of The Sun—Mrs. Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, was never a "spiritualist" either before or after she wrote Science and Health. If any of your citizens desire to read an impartial life of Mrs. Eddy, by one who is not a Christian Scientist, but a conscientious woman, it can be had by calling at the Paducah Library. There have been a great many cruel and slanderous things said and written of Mrs. Eddy with a view of discrediting Christian Science, and there are so-called biographies written with this same purpose in view, but the life of Mrs. Eddy by "Wilbur" is an interesting and fairly good account of her life. Few public characters have received such spontaneous and unqualified testimony of esteem as was given Mrs. Eddy, a few years ago, through the press of the country, by prominent citizens of Concord, N. H., where her family have lived for generations and where she is well known. None of these people were Christian Scientists, but they published an indignant protest against such persistent, cruel and slanderous persecution of a lady whom they knew and held in high esteem. She following letter requires no explanation, viz:

"Boscawen, N. H., Aug. 4, 1902.
"In speaking a word about my acquaintance with Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, I would like first to say I am not a Christian Scientist, but an old-fashioned Orthodox Congregationalist. My father, the Rev. Enoch Couser, was from 1837 to 1842 pastor of the church of that denomination in Northfield and Tilton (then Sanborn Bridge), N. H., with which the Baker family was connected.

"As Mrs. Eddy's pastor—and for a time teacher—my father held her in the highest esteem; in fact he considered her, even at an early age, superior both intellectually and spiritually, to any other woman in Tilton, and greatly enjoyed talking with her. It was in 1837 when, if I remember rightly, Mrs. Eddy was about fifteen, that I first knew her, she being several years younger than myself. I well remember her gift of expression which was very marked, as girls of that time were not usually possessed of so large a vocabulary. She and my father used to converse on deep subjects—frequently (as I recall to mind, from remarks made by my father) too deep for me.

"She was always pure and good, or my father as her pastor could not have received her into his church and communion. If he were living today I am sure his recommendation of her would be unqualified. She stands out in my mind distinctly as his brightest pupil, and I also remember her great admiration for him. I have never heard spiritualism mentioned in connection with her or her family. The Bakers were superior people, well to do and well educated. The fact that Mrs. Eddy's brother, Albert was nominated to congress by the largest majority ever registered in the state, dying, however, before the election, shows the estimation in which he was held by the community. A younger brother was a skilled musician, and led the church choir (quorum pars fui) at the Bridge for a number of years. Her sister Martha was a teacher for a time in the academy at Sanborn Square, of which Prof. Dyer H. Sanborn, author of the grammar, was then principal.

"I never heard or knew anything about Mrs. Eddy in her youth in regard to her relations with her family or the community, which would give any foundation for the derogatory stories now in circulation, purporting to deal with the time in life when I knew her best. They seem to have been invented of late years, since those who could bear testimony to the actual facts have become few in number. It has occurred to me that jealousy of her remarkable success may have given rise to the invention of these preposterous stories.

"The fact is, during my residence of some years, previous to the fall of 1843, in or near the present town of Tilton, I never heard a lie against the good name of Miss Baker, but always praise for her superior abilities and scholarship, her depth and independence of thought, and not least, spiritual-mindedness, all prophetic of her future eminence when once her true life's mission should be revealed to her by that Providence 'that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will.'"
(Signed) S. B. G. COURSER.

When the above letter was written Mr. Courser, a well-to-do farmer, was living at his home in Boscawen, N. H.—L. H. Jones.

There were good men and bad men in the new communities just as in the old communities, and the conditions on the frontier were such that the qualities of the good and bad alike were rather more strikingly manifested than in older communities, but among the men who tried to lead hard working, decent lives there was a feeling of genuine democracy, which represented an approach to the American ideal which we certainly should do everything in our power to preserve.

We did not try to say that men were equal when they were not equal, but we did our best to secure something like an equality of opportunity and an equality of reward for good service, and, moreover, each man expected to be received, and on the whole was received wherever he went on the footing that his merits warranted.

Now, so far as possible, these qualities and the conditions that bring about these qualities should be kept in the great states which are growing out of the old frontier communities. We need to strive for the general social betterment of the people as a icans in whatever sections of the country they may dwell.

The Expanding of the West.

A hundred years ago, when men spoke of the west, they meant the country between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi. Fifty years ago the white man's west took in Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas and then skipped across to California and Oregon. The country of the great plains and the Rockies, the country in which you whom I am now addressing lead your lives and do your work, has grown up within my own lifetime.

I myself saw and took part in the closing years of the pioneer period, and it was my great privilege to work side by side with the pioneers—the ranchmen, the miners, the cowpunchers, the mule skinner, the bullwhackers—who actually opened up the country. I have seen the herds and flocks of the cattlemen and sheepmen supplant the game. I have seen the fortunate movement by which the small farm has tended gradually to take the place of the great unfenced ranch.

I now travel in every comfort on railways across lands which when I first rode across them were still the home of the Indian and the buffalo, and I find cities where one can obtain not merely comfort, but luxury, in the places where thirty years ago there was not a building beyond a log hut or a 'dobe house.

The men who did this work were engaged in the final stages of conquering the continent, and it was their privilege to do one of the great works of all time, to do their part in the performance of an epic feat in the history of the progress of mankind.

I have used the word progress. The west stands for growth, for progress. So must the whole American people stand. A great democracy must be progressive or it will soon cease to be either great or democratic. No nation, no state, no party, can stand still. It must either go forward or go backward, and it becomes useless if it goes backward. Therefore I greet you, men of the west, and I stand for progress, as all men must stand who are progressive.

The pioneers and their immediate successors won victory only by proving that they possessed the great, masterful qualities which lie at the foundation of national greatness. There are certain well meaning men of intellectual cultivation, but lacking mental and moral robustness, who complain continually that they find American life, and especially the life of those American communities emerging from the pioneer stage, crude and without genius or beauty.

Genius is a fine thing for a nation, but character is a still finer thing, and though beauty is good, strength is an even greater good. The men who have made this great republic of the west what it is, and especially the men who have turned it into a continental commonwealth, have possessed in the highest degree the great virtue virtues of strength, courage, energy and undaunted and unwavering resolution.

Their typical leaders, of whom Abraham Lincoln, though the most exceptional, was the most typical, have possessed keen intelligence and a character not merely strong, but lofty; a character exalted by the fact that great power was accompanied by a high and fine determination to use this great power for the common good, for the advancement of mankind.

Pioneer Days Over.

The pioneer days are over, save in a few places, and the more complex life of today calls for a greater variety of good qualities than was needed on the frontier. There is need at present to encourage the development of new abilities which can be brought to high perfection only by a kind of training useless in pioneer times, but these new qualities can only supplement and never supplant the old, honest virtues; the need for the special and distinctive pioneer virtues is as great as ever.

In other words, as our civilization grows older and more complex, while it is true that we need new forms of trained ability and need to develop men whose lives are devoted wholly to the pursuit of special objects, it is yet also true that we need a greater and not a less development of the fundamental frontier virtues.

These virtues include the power of self help, together with the power of joining with others for mutual help and what is especially important, the feeling of comradeship, of social good fellowship. Any man who had the good fortune to live among the old frontier conditions must in looking back realize how vital was this feeling of general comradeship and social fellowship.

There were good men and bad men in the new communities just as in the old communities, and the conditions on the frontier were such that the qualities of the good and bad alike were rather more strikingly manifested than in older communities, but among the men who tried to lead hard working, decent lives there was a feeling of genuine democracy, which represented an approach to the American ideal which we certainly should do everything in our power to preserve.

We did not try to say that men were equal when they were not equal, but we did our best to secure something like an equality of opportunity and an equality of reward for good service, and, moreover, each man expected to be received, and on the whole was received wherever he went on the footing that his merits warranted.

Now, so far as possible, these qualities and the conditions that bring about these qualities should be kept in the great states which are growing out of the old frontier communities. We need to strive for the general social betterment of the people as a whole and yet to encourage individual liberty and set high reward on individual initiative up to the point where they become detrimental to the general welfare.

In continually and earnestly striving for this betterment of social and economic conditions in our complex industrial civilization we should yet in the old frontier spirit of brotherly strength and courage and yet with the old frontier spirit of brotherly comradeship and good will.

I do not mean that you should refrain from hating wrong. On the contrary, I would preach fiery wrath against wrong. But I would not preach such wrath against the wrongdoer save in those cases where his wrongdoing really is due to evil moral attributes on his part and not to a wrong or false system, of which he is almost as much the victim as the beneficiary.

Sometimes a wrong represents the deliberate wickedness of the wrongdoer, in which case the remedy is to punish him, but sometimes it represents the effects of a false social system, in which case the right course is to alter what is false in the system. Both principles need to be kept in view as guides to our conduct, and it is necessary sometimes to work in accordance with one and sometimes in accordance with the other.

Before ending I wish to say a word on something which, I believe, should especially interest all men who live in the open country, and especially all men who during the past thirty years have lived and worked on ranches or have done their life work in the wilder parts of our land, on the great plains or among the mountains.

The phase of our national life in which the stockman, the mining prospector, the frontier farmer and their associates were the chief characters was not only an important, but also a very picturesque phase.

Often such a phase passes without any great artist arising to commemorate it. The old time backwoodsman, for instance, the man of the back country, who lived in the eastern forests through which the waters ran eastward to the Atlantic and westward to the Mississippi, passed away without any painter or sculptor arising who possessed at once both the keenness of vision to see what a vital and picturesque figure the backwoodsman was and the genius adequately to present that figure.

Monument For Remington.

The artists who saw the picturesque life of the backwoodsman lacked the genius adequately to commemorate it while the artists of real ability unfortunately had their eyes turned toward Europe and lacked the robust originality—which the novelist Cooper showed—to see where their chance lay to do a great work.

But in our generation for our good fortune a great artist arose who was capable of seeing and of recording the picturesque life of the backwoodsman and the life of the plains and the Rockies. Of course I speak of Frederic Remington, who by his achievements distinctly deserved well of America. He worked with pencil, with brush, with chisel. He was both a painter and a sculptor. His pictures and his few bronzes are equally good.

When my own regiment, a typically western regiment, recruited mainly from the men of the great plains and the mountains, was disbanded at Montauk Point, the officers and enlisted men joined in giving me Remington's bronze broncho buster, a gift which I thought peculiarly appropriate, coming from such a body of men.

In Remington's pictures all the most vivid and characteristic features of the western pioneer life which is just closing were set forth, and he has commemorated forever the men of the plains and the mountains as they actually were. The cowboy is his favorite type, but the mining prospector, the frontier farmer, the man who guides an ox wagon or mule team, the soldier, the Indian—all appear. Now I wish very much that these men themselves could in their turn provide a monument for the great artist, the sum of whose activities represented such a feature of American achievement and, above all, represents the commemoration of some of the most interesting figures that have ever appeared on the stage of American life.

A statue should be raised to Remington by some really first class artist. Here at Cheyenne in this gathering many hundreds of the men have come together who were themselves typical leaders in and representatives of the very life which Remington so portrayed that it will always live. I hope that these men will join together, arrange the appointment of a committee and start to raise funds for the erection of such a statue.

Sedan, Kan., Aug. 27.—Standing in five feet of water in the bottom of a cistern at her home near here, Mrs. John Burch, wife of a farmer, for eight hours held aloft her two-year-old child until the arrival of her husband today.

The child had fallen into the cistern and the mother, who saw the accident, immediately sprang after it, seized the baby in her arms, raised it above the surface of the water and called for help. No one was within hearing of the woman's calls and throughout the greater part of the day Mrs. Burch stood, the water reaching up almost to her neck, and waited for the return of her husband from his work in the fields.

After being taken from the cistern Mrs. Burch collapsed and is dangerously ill, but the child suffered no illness.

MORE BRASS

IS FOUND BY PATROLMAN C. D. GILLIAM.

Talmage Lubricator Stolen From Illinois Central Locomotive Among Articles.

Patrolman C. D. Gilliam, of the Union station beat, thought he had come across Captain Kidd's treasure Thursday morning when he saw a large object glistening in the sunlight in a hollow near "Red Row," which is between the Illinois Central railroad shops and the south yards.

Hastening to the object he found it was a large piece of brass, although Mr. Gilliam was not sufficiently versed along that line to use a name for it. He called it a piece of brass, anyway, and strained himself a little when he tried to lift it. Believing it to have been stolen he decided to lie in wait for the thief to return for his booty, but the still watch yesterday morning was spoiled by the elements and Mr. Gilliam lugged the brass to the Illinois Central shops, where he deposited it. He was informed that it was a Talmage lubricator used on locomotives and had doubtless been stolen from there. He was also informed that the object weighed at least 60 pounds, several pounds lighter than Mr. Gilliam had calculated.

Brass thieves have been operating around Paducah for several months and many factories have reported valuable brass missing.

Denver, Col., Aug. 27.—Removing his bathrobe and placing one foot in the cool water that filled the bathtub yesterday, Chapin Gard, a Denver mining man, was suddenly electrified by a series of sharp pains in practically every portion of his anatomy. At the same time a loud buzzing filled the room. Then followed turmoil.

Other occupants of the house who came to investigate the disturbance, found Gard in the costume of a prehistoric warrior, vainly swinging a wet bath towel and waging a battle against a swarm of bees that had invaded the bathroom through a hole in the window screen.

For persons associated with, or in the house of the patient, quarantine until after the death or recovery of the patient and disinfection of the premises may be instituted as the Board of Health or Health Officer deems it expedient.

Smallpox.

Sec. 18. Isolation until all crusts or scales have fallen off, and disinfection of the premises. For exposed persons the period of quarantine shall be determined by the Board of Health, or the Health Officer, who also in each case shall perform whatever duties may be advisable for the good or welfare of the city's health.

Cholera and Yellow Fever.

Sec. 19. Cholera and yellow fever as well as other contagious and infectious diseases may be quarantined and isolated in a manner, and for such time as may be in accordance with the best sanction of the foremost scientists of medicine.

Sec. 20. The bodies of persons who have died of smallpox, cholera, yellow fever or other contagious or infectious diseases shall be wrapped in a sheet saturated with a solution of bi-chloride of mercury—one ounce to the gallon of water, and shall be buried within twenty-four hours after death, except by written permission of the Board of Health or the Health officer, additional time may be granted to keep such body under such regulations as may be required.

Sec. 21. The transportation of persons dead of smallpox, diphtheria, Asiatic cholera or yellow fever, except for burial or cremation within the jurisdiction of the health authorities of this city where the death occurred is absolutely forbidden.

Sec. 22. The bodies of those who have died of Asiatic cholera, smallpox or yellow fever, and other contagious or infectious or communicable diseases, must be wrapped in a sheet thoroughly saturated with a strong solution of bi-chloride of mercury, in proportion of one ounce of bi-chloride of mercury to one gallon of water, and encased in an air tight zinc, tin, copper or lead-lined coffin, or in an air-tight casket hermetically sealed, and all encased in a strong, tight wooden box; or the body must be prepared for shipment by being wrapped in a sheet and disinfected by a solution of bi-chloride of mercury, as above, and placed in a strong coffin or casket, and said coffin or casket enclosed in a hermetically sealed (soldered) zinc, copper or tin case, and all enclosed in a strong outside wooden box of material not less than one inch thick.

Sec. 23. In case of contagious diseases, the body must not be accompanied by persons or articles which have been exposed to the infection of the disease, without a permit and certificate of proper disinfection from the attending physician and the health officer. And, in addition to said permit and certificate without satisfactory evidence that the provisions of this ordinance have been complied with, agents will require an affidavit from the shipping undertaker certified by the proper health authority, stating how the body has been prepared and the kind of coffin or casket used, which must be in conformity with this ordinance.

Sec. 24. Every dead body must be accompanied by a transit permit from the health officer giving permission for the removal and showing the name of the deceased, age, place of death, the point to which it is to be shipped and medical attendant and name of undertaker.

Sec. 25. The box containing the corpse must be plainly marked with a poster showing the name of the deceased, place of death, cause of death, the point to which it is to be shipped, and the number of the transit permit in connection therewith.

Sec. 25 A. It is intended that no dead body shall be moved which may be the means of spreading disease; therefore all disinterred bodies dead from any disease or cause will be treated as infectious and dangerous to the public health, and will not be accepted for transportation unless said removal has been approved by the State Board of Health.

Sec. 26. No undertaker or other person shall use any vehicle other than a hearse, for the purpose of conveying to any cemetery the body of any person dying from cholera, smallpox, yellow fever, scarlet fever, typhus fever diphtheria or other contagious or infectious diseases, nor shall anybody so dying, be removed from the place of death, except to the place of burial. And any person violating this provision shall be fined in the police court any sum not exceeding fifty dollars and the costs of prosecution.

Sec. 27. The health officer shall be the chief executive officer of the Board of Health, and it shall be his duty to carry out and enforce all existing laws which shall have for their object the preservation of life, the prevention of disease, and the abatement of nuisances. And shall do and perform all such duties as the Board of Health may lawfully require of him. And when nuisances or offenses against any ordinance relating to privies, noxious or deleterious substances or any other matter connected with the sanitary condition of this city shall come to his knowledge, it shall be his duty to report the same to the Board of Health and upon instruction from said board, to immediately abate the same under the provisions of this ordinance; and in case of inability so to do he shall at once report the same to and file before the police court a complaint in reference to the same in order that the proper summons or order may issue for a hearing of the same.

Upon a case of smallpox or other contagious diseases being made known to him, he shall report the same and if the physician in attendance shall not also have made a report as required by this ordinance he shall make a complaint against such physician before said police court of the facts in the matter. Said officer is also empowered to serve notices directed by said board and by the general council in relation to nuisances, stagnant ponds, etc., and he shall have all the powers of a policeman in the exercise of the duty appertaining to his office.

The Board of Health shall not have power or authority to appoint any officer excepting the health officer. All quarantine guards, sanitary officers or officers of like character shall be appointed, when necessary by the General Council; provided, however, that the Health Officer or the Board of Health or the General Council shall have the power and authority to appoint quarantine guards whenever the emergency arises, but all such appointments shall be reported by said Health officer or Board of Health to the General Council at the session succeeding their appointment, and said Health Officer or Board of Health may dispense with the services of any quarantine guard, or guards, whenever in their judgment it is deemed proper so to do. Said quarantine guards shall receive as compensation for their services the sum of two ($2.00) dollars per day to be paid in the same manner that other claims against the city are paid. They shall be under the control and direction of the Board of Health, or Health Officer and shall obey all orders which they may issue.

The Health Officer and all other quarantine guards, sanitary officers or officers of like character shall at all times, use the utmost care to prevent the spread of contagious diseases. So far as possible they must avoid all exposure to infection, and in the handling of diseased persons they shall wear sterilized garments. It shall also be their duty to avoid mingling with any person, or persons without having taken all due precautions to prevent the spread of disease.

Sec. 28. The salary of the health officer herein shall be six hundred dollars per annum, payable monthly at such times and in the manner prescribed in the fiscal ordinance for the payment of city officers.

Sec. 29. Said health officer shall be a competent physician and citizen of the state of Kentucky and a citizen and resident of the city of Paducah, and shall be elected by the Board of Health appointed by the General Council under Section 2059 of the Kentucky Statutes, and who shall hold his office for a term of two years from the date of qualification, and said health officer shall give bond to the city of Paducah for the faithful performance of his duties in the sum of one thousand dollars.

Sec. 30. The General Council shall on petition of the Board of Health, or whenever it may deem same advisable, elect one or more persons as sanitary officers, who shall hold their offices at the pleasure of said General Council. Such officers shall be paid a salary, monthly out of the city treasury of $60.00 for their services.

Sec. 31. It shall be the duty of said sanitary officers to patrol the city during the day time and look after its sanitary condition; they shall be clothed with police authority by the Mayor, and shall see that the sanitary laws and ordinances of the city of Paducah are enforced, together with such regulations as may be adopted by the board of health; they shall be under the direction, orders and control of the Mayor and Board of Health or Health Officer, and shall report to the Health officer once each day.

Sec. 32. Any person, firm, company or corporation violating any provision of this ordinance or failing or refusing to comply with any order of the Board of Health or Health Officer, issued pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance, shall be fined not less than $5.00, nor more than $50.00 for each offense, unless otherwise provided herein, and each day's violation hereof or refusal to comply with any such order shall be a separate offense.

Sec. 33. This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage, approval and publication, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith in so far as same conflict herewith, are hereby repealed.

VIRGINIA THE AIR

By HERBERT QUICK

Carson explained, with some neuro-pathic symptoms of his own, that the young lady was not his wife.

"Excuse me!" whispered the doctor, on tiptoe. "As to whose the mistake is, yours or mine, omission or commission, can't say, but pardon me, just the same. Must go now. Other patients, you know. My errand!"

And, slipping his card to Theodore with the air of a man seeking to establish a connection in the castaway trade, he whispered himself out, being replaced almost immediately by two local representatives of the metropolitan press, to whom Theodore resolutely refused to say a word beyond the statement that the Roc was wrecked and that the passengers were saved.

This, however, did not prevent them from sending in highly colored accounts of the wreck and of the sensational assistance accorded her by the Virginia aeroplane—which were expanded in the city offices into the sensation of the day. Shayne of Aerostatic Power had violated the Craighead injunction in the Roc! Craighead, Carson and the Shaynes were together in a New Jersey village! Rumors and canards on change and the curb! Extras and red type on yellow first pages! But the real sensation was not known until afterward.

Craighead was a long time gone, returning with a perspiring man carrying a notary's seal in one hand, a huge volume under one arm and a flat book like an exaggerated check book under the other. Following them were a tall, angular, serious looking gentleman in wading boots, his eyes covered with immense blue goggles—a French chauffeur if one might judge by certain strong points in garments and feature; a life saving crew from up the coast who had just arrived after a long distance view of the wreck and several water side characters belonging in a New Jersey way to the Captain Harrod class. The man with the books seemed tired with his burden and was using occasional strong words.

"Set down, set down your honorable load," said Craighead, "if honor may be harried with a curse. Fellow citizens, we are delighted with what we have seen of your little city. The climate is lovely, the air fresh and the water warm. We like it. What do you call it?"

Carson drew Craighead aside and suggested dry clothes.

"Be silent, sirrah," cried Craighead, "and do as you are bid! Friends, the performance in the big tent is about to open. This, Mr. Van Brunt, is one of the principals."

"Of age, I see," said Mr. Van Brunt, looking at Carson. "I guess it's all right. An' where's the other party?"

A maid who had devoted herself to Virginia replied that Miss Suarez was quite able to see people.

"Come, Mr. Van Brunt," said Craighead, "and view the precious remains." Craighead entered at Virginia's "Come in," but Mr. Van Brunt went no farther than to insert half his body and all his head in the room and look searchingly at Miss Suarez.

"Of course," said he, "you're over eighteen?"

"Considerably," said Virginia, "but—Mr. Van Brunt had vanished. Craighead gazed solemnly at Virginia and spoke sepulchraly.

"These," said he, "are some of the local forms of the initiation. Be obedient and thou shalt prosper. Don't do nothing that you ain't told to—see?"

"What does this foolery mean?" asked Carson as Craighead emerged into the parlor, where Mr. Van Brunt was engaged in filling up blanks and tearing them out of the big check book.

"Foolery!" said Craighead. "Profane not the sacred mysteries of Eleusis! Don't get cynical or funny. You are not a very important person here. Friends, fellow citizens, Jerseymen, lend me your ears. We have met for certain reasons connected with the vital statistics of our common country—to originate an epithet. Two problems look the American people in the face and gnash their problematical teeth and snort. What are they? My friend the doctor, who has returned with healing in his fins, and our reverend friend in the waders can bear witness that I speak sooth when I say that these portentous national dangers lie in celibacy. I have made a specialty of it."

"Hooray!" shouted the captain of the life saving crew.

"My honorable and gallant friend," said Craighead, indicating the captain, "bath a Smith college pin on his service shirt. It's not to thee, O potentia benedict, that I speak! We are here to gail not the inoculated, but the hitherto immune, to repentance. Fellow reformers, at the request of my friend Mr. Carson—General Theodor' Carlson, M. A.—I sent a motorcar for Mr. Van Brunt, and the county seat of this county, so far as the marriage records are concerned, is here. The Rev. Mr. Coryell has kindly agreed to perform the ceremony. I will assume the chair if there are no objections. I will entertain a motion ordering the nuptials to proceed. I assume a motion for the regular order. Reading of the minutes dispensed with. All in favor of the marriage of Theodore Carson and Virginia Suarez say 'Aye!'"

There was a swelling roar of "ayes" that startled Virginia into a belief that a political convention was in session in the parlor. Craighead called for the "nays," with no response.

"It is a vote," said he—"unanimous!" I congratulate you in this harmony! It augurs well for a successful campaign and a triumphant election. Will some one volunteer to play the wedding march? Thank you, sir."

This to the captain of the life savers, who seated himself on a piano stool and ran his hands over the keys.

"And now, general," said Craighead to Carson, "all is ready. The statutes in such case made and provided are all fulfilled. Bring out the bride and let the rapture culminate!"

"Craighead," said Carson, "come outside and I'll break every bone in your body!"

No one heard this but Craighead, and he received the announcement with the suave of bows and a withdrawal with Carson on his arm.

"Just a little delay," said he to Mr. Coryell. "You know how it is—last kisses of bridesmaids—veil askew—rubbish—but we must wait."

Mr. Coryell, with Craighead's money in his pocket, sufficient in amount to pay the entire expenses of his vacation study of Atlantic gastropods, waited smilingly, rubbing his hands. Mr. Van Brunt lighted a cigar and looked officially grave. Carson seized Craighead by the throat in the privacy of the kitchen.

"What do you mean?" he snarled. "What insane thing is this?"

"Explanations," said Craighead, extricating his throat, "are uncalled for he rapped on the door and called "Time!"

The audience had entered upon the phase of impatience characterized by stamping in unison.

"What do they want?" asked Virginia.

"Us," said Carson. "Let us go out."

"Out?" queried Virginia. "Out there?"

"Virginia," said Carson, "did I not say I was taking you away with me—now?"

"Oh!" gasped Virginia, shrinking back. "You don't mean for me to understand?"

"The minister is outside—to marry us—darling! Come!"

"Oh, Theodore!" she gasped.

The door opened. Craighead's voice came through in inquiry.

"All ready?" he asked loudly. "Then let the cortege move! After these nuptials we shall have the full music of the grand sweet song. Like Prince Agib of Gilbertian story—

"We will diligently play On the zootrope all day And blow the loud pantachion all night! Forward, march!"

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" tinkled feelingly forth from the piano. The minister stood in the narrow circle left open by the crowd. Craighead, like a new ducked usher, bowed grandly at the door to let them through. Theodore took Virginia's plump, print covered arm and whispered in her ear promises which instinct told him would break down the last resistance. The short service went on as remembered by the priest.

"Who gives this woman away?"

And who but Finley Shayne broke through the press to take her by the hand and respond heartily, "I do!"

And when the ring was called for who but the captain of the life saving crew, true to the traditions of the service, came forward and took it from his chain and saved them?

And when the minister asked, "Do you, Virginia, take this man to be your wedded husband?" and the dear old reminder of it who but Theodore Carson turned dizzy at the bride's pause before answering, and who but Virginia said sweetly and clearly, "I do?"

And as for Craighead, that worthy gentleman would have been in still higher feather had he known that within two weeks he was to succeed in persuading his adored Caroline to join him in a similar ceremony.

CLEARINGS FOR WEEK.

New York, Aug. 27.—Dun's Review this week says:

Bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States aggregate $2,204,115,297, a loss of 20.2 per cent., compared with last year and of 21.2 per cent. compared with 1906. This poor comparison, as in earlier weeks, continues to be due to the marked decrease in the volume of exchange at New York City, where extreme dullness in the speculative and financial markets has a pronounced effect on bank clearings. Compared with last year, most cities outside that center report gains although decreases at a few important points result in small net losses. In this respect the comparison with the active year 1906 is more favorable, for although seven out of thirty cities reporting, show more or less decrease, the large gains made by Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Kansas City and San Francisco produce an increase in the total outside of New York of 10 per cent.
